Activities as a Consultant

As an independent consultant in the disability field since 1987, I have undertaken over thirty reviews, evaluations and other projects for federal and state government departments and for many non-government organizations. These projects included state-wide evaluation of the Community Living Program for people with disabilities and a review of staff training for Department of Community Services Developmental Disability Service staff throughout NSW Other projects have involved planning and/or review of numerous government and non-government community living services, respite care services, employment services, independent living skills training services, a social and educational service and a legal/advocacy service. I have developed quality assurance packages and service use computer databases for respite care services.
